WOOL SHEARING ALMOST ENDED

Eastern Buyers Preparing to Go to Montana and Oregon.

ARGENTINE MAN TALKS

CPPORTUNITIES FOR AMERICAN CAPITAL IN SOUTH AMERICA.

It was said yesterday that by the end of this week the wool shearing through Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, and Nevada will be practically completed and that the operations thereafter until MAY DAY FLOWERS TO COME. the end of the month will be conducted in Montana and Oregon. It is generally estimated that the clip for Utah alone will amount to something more than 12,000,000 pounds and that the 000 mark for wool shorn in Utah, while not less than $500,000 will come to the state for Utah wool shorn in Wyoming who have been hereabouts for the past

who have been hereabouts for the past month are at present scattered through the state cleaning up their deals and they expect to go to Montana and Oregon early next week.

Mark Harris, of the St. Louis house of Harris & Co., said yesterday:

"We are very well satisfied with the results attained through this state, Wyoming, Idaho and Nevada, particularly through Utah. The grade of wool is much better than in many wool is much better than in many previous years and the prices have been correspondingly higher. Of course the greater part of the clip was con-tracted for last fall and the prices agreed upon at that time have been mutually agreeable. I am inclined to hink, judging by the care that is being taken of the lambs and by the prospect for favorable climatic conditions dur-ing the remainder of the year that the cflp a year hence will even surpass that just made."

Satisfied With His Bargain.

Ludwig Eiseman, of the Boston house of Eiseman Bros., who completed the deal ten days ago, whereby he pur-chased 150,000 pounds of fleece at Milford on the San Pedro line for an averice ever paid for southern Utah wool said that he was perfectly satisfied with his bargain and was only hoping that he could obtain more of the same grade at the same price. He said that the general price was fixed last fall at from 15 to 17 cents, but that there had been a few small sales through the state during the past month at an even better figure. He intends to go from here to the fields in Montana and Oregon, where his agents have been making contracts for a better grade of fleece than has been grown in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming or Nevada.

Wyoming or Nevada.

The latest quotations for the clip in Montana are flattering for the industry in that state. As high as 25 cents per pound has been obtained by the sheep men and as a result they see an era of real prosperity before them. According to the latest reports from that state the sheep on the ganges are in prime condition and aside from their value in condition with the produce of the fleece they will command a high price as mutton when the time comes for the fleece to the sheep of the sheep of the fleece they will command a high price as mutton when the time comes for the fleece to the sheep of the fleece they will command a high price as mutton when the time comes for the fleece to the fleece they will command a high price as mutton when the time comes for the fleece that the fleece they will command a high price as mutton when the time comes for the fleece that the fleece they will command a high price as mutton when the time comes for the fleece that the flee

DISCHARGED FROM CUSTODY.—

The examination into the affairs of B. H. Schettler yesterday afternoon, before Referce in Bankruptcy Charles Baldwin, lasted only ten or twelve minutes and was continued until 2 o'clock this afternoon to oblige W. W. Ray of the law firm of Rawlins & Ray, counsel for the ex-banker.

However, enough was accomplished in that brief space of time to demonstrate that Schettler's marital relations with one of his wives have not been harmonious for the past seventeen years. Mrs. Elizabeth Parry Schettler, was falled to the stand so that her testimony could be taken prior to her de-
